Statutory guidance

Module 1

Keeping Children Safe in Education 2018

This statutory guidance from the Department for Education contains information on what nursery schools, schools, pupil referral units and further education colleges must do to safeguard children and young people. It recognises that school and college staff are particularly important as they are in a position to identify concerns early and provide help for children, to prevent concerns from escalating.

The guidance is in five parts and all staff must read at least Part One, and if they work directly with children, Annex A, which contains information on specific forms of abuse and safeguarding issues.

Making notes

Module 2

The more specific your notes, the more useful they will be in forming a well-rounded picture for child protection professionals to act on. They have busy workloads and it is their role to determine next actions. When they receive a report containing ambiguous, vague information, it makes their role extremely difficult. Click to see some examples.

Instead of:

Example 1

Nicola was wearing inappropriate clothes for the weather.

Example 2

Example 3

Say exactly what you see, hear or know:

It was minus five degrees outside with a hard frost and Nicola was wearing a summer dress and open-toed sandals without socks or tights.
